Prof. Cheng-Shieu Hsu Memorial Scholarships at the Department of Physics, National Taiwan Normal University

Approved by Assembly of Department of Physics on March 10th, 2022

I. Purpose

Prof. Cheng-Shieu Hsu was a lead physicist in his early career and taught at the Department of Physics, National Taiwan Normal University. Later on, he helped to establish and taught at the Department of Industrial Education, National Taiwan Normal University. Prof. Hsu worked at NTNU for almost half a century and devoted himself to education and research -- he had not only served as the Chair of Department of Industrial Education, the Dean of Graduate Institute of Industrial Education, but also led delegations to survey industrial education programs abroad many times. Prof. Hsu had contributed greatly to teacher training in both physics and industrial education, as well as national policies on industrial education.

This memorial scholarship is set up to encourage and award the students, who have actively participated in research and international interaction and exchange -- in memory of the contribution of Prof. Cheng-Shieu Hsu to the Department of Physics, in gratitude of the teaching and mentoring of the faculty of Department of Physics on Prof. Hsu's daughter (Alumnus of Class 1974), and in encouraging the youngsters to follow Prof. Hsu's active involvement in international survey, interaction, and introduction of new knowledge.

II. Recipients and award

1. Recipients: Each year, 7 students from the Departments and Graduate Institute of Physics are awarded. Three undergraduate students, two from the master's class, and two from the doctoral class (the number of awards for bachelor's, master's and doctoral students depends on the number of applicants and research performance).
2. Award: In principle, the total annual scholarship is NTD 100,000. For each undergraduate recipient, the award is around NTD 10,000, for each master program recipient, the award is around NTD 15,000, and for each doctorate recipient, the award is around NTD 20,000. The actual amount of each recipient will be slightly adjusted depending on the number of applicants.
